SYMPOSIUM

Gastrointestinal infections – are we doing enough?

Organised with the Food Standards Agency, the Veterinary Laboratories Agency, the National Public Health Service Wales and Health Protection Scotland

Monday 15 September 2008 at Warwick University (as part of Health Protection 2008 conference)

This one day symposium will bring a multidisciplinary approach to exploring the evidence base required for taking action in gastrointestinal outbreaks, as well as current practices and newer developments which facilitate the diagnosis and investigation of such incidents. For more information see:
